

Ms. Manetta was born in Argentina and grew up in Elizabeth, New Jersey. She has a Bachelors of Science degree in Marketing and Accounting from Rutgers University and holds a Masters Degree in International Studies from Seton Hall University. Additionally, she attended Thunderbird University's Corporate Education program, International Consortium, while employed with AT&T.

Betty has 20 years experience in the telecommunications industry with AT&T and Lucent Technologies. She has more than 10 years of international experience, conducting business in the telecommunications sector in the Middle East and Latin America.

Betty sits on the board of directors for the Minority Business RoundTable, and Dialogue on Diversity, she is a member of LAMA and the New Jersey Technology and Manufacturing council of Middlesex County.

Dialogue on Diversity, Inc., honored Betty as one of the recipients of the 2001 Entrepreneurial Excellence Award for her outstanding achievements as a woman entrepreneur.

Ms. Manetta was appointed to President Bush's Export Council. As a member of President Bush's Export Council, Ms. Manetta advocates for Women and Minority suppliers to become participants of international opportunities.

Ms. Manetta is also a wife and mother. Although business responsibilities pull on her time, she always makes time for her family.